TTLG VOL.2:

HERE COMES THE DARK

TTLG

A CONCEPTUAL TRILOGY

PRESS KIT

TTLG is the debut conceptual project by Barcelona-born artist Andy Arno; a 11-track journey written over seven years that maps self-discovery, shadow integration and transformation. The work is structured in three volumes, each tied to a life stage and archetype: Childhood / Innocence (already released), Adolescence / The Shadow (the current stage, featuring Wonderland as a central piece) and Adulthood / Transcendence (the final chapter, culminating in the full album launch).

What you're hearing now represents the evolution through these first two standalone volumes; the full album—with its title still kept mysterious—will be revealed later, complete with collaborations and the final shape of the trilogy.

Recorded at Locus Estudi (Barcelona) with a collective of musicians, the project blends modern pop-rock and cinematic textures into an immersive experience — now further expanded through my own lens as director and visual creator.

In an age of singles, TTLG invites the listener to step into a multidimensional universe where innocence and darkness coexist, and the visible and invisible converge.

ANDY ARNO

ARTIST & CREATIVE DIRECTOR

Andy Arno is an independent artist and creative director at the helm of the conceptual universe TTLG. With a solid foundation in Blues and musical theory, her work evolves into what she defines as Intellectual Punk: a sound that utilizes Pop's accessibility to convey a critical and analytical message regarding digital dystopia and the loss of existential hope in the first world.

As the total architect of her craft, Andy doesn't just compose her music; she drives the visual narrative of her projects from her own studio. After supplementing her vision with studies in Cinematic Art Direction, she takes on the roles of film director, colorist, and costume designer for the first time in this volume. Her work is an invitation to awaken the critical spirit and face the shadows of a numbed society.

THE CONCEPT

THE PSYCHE

TTLG Vol. 2: Here Comes the Dark is an immersion into the archetype of adolescence; that first abrupt, volcanic contact with one's own shadow. Through a cinematic visual language and a psychedelic narrative, the project explores the density of a reality that needs no external monsters to feel heavy.

It is an awakening.

A scream.

A portal.

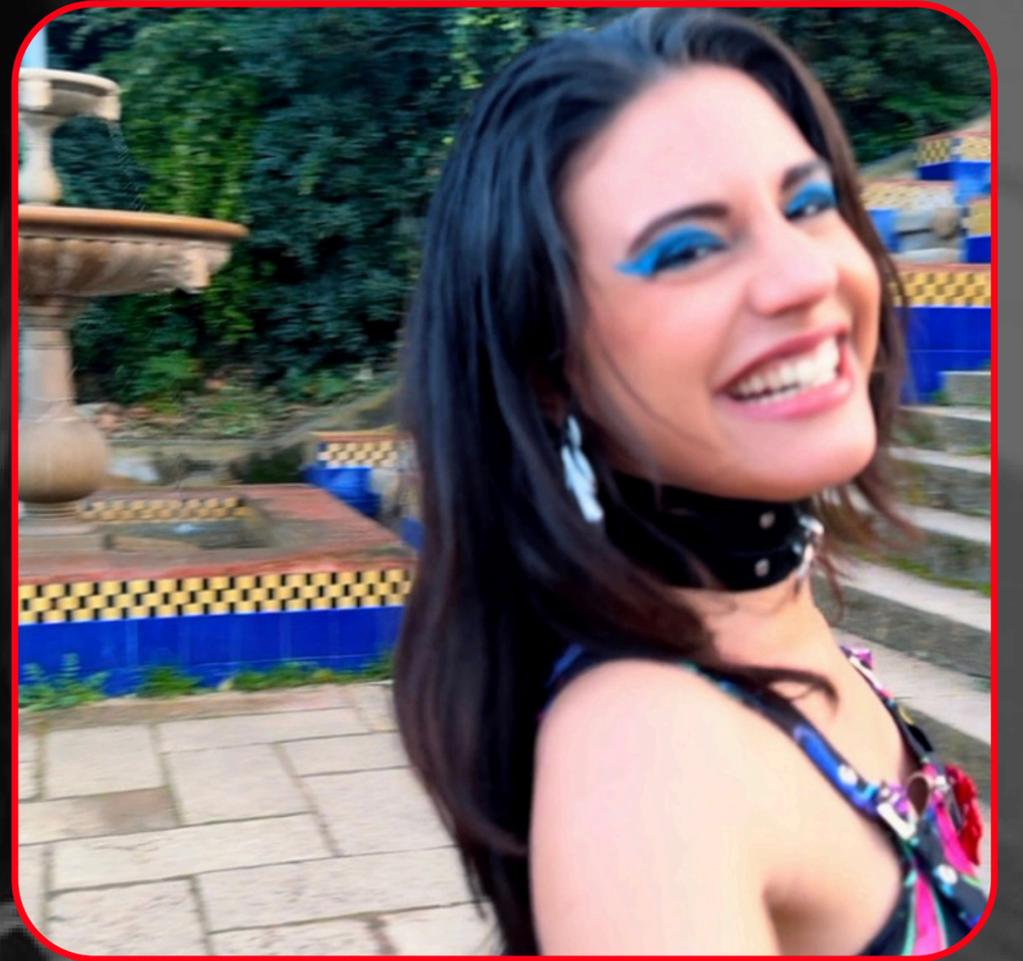

THE DEPTHS

Sonia and Andy—muse and architect—fusing visions to give life to a dystopia where reality weighs as much as the mind itself. But beyond the interdisciplinary work, beyond the production design and the music, there is a fundamental truth: this is the result of two friends believing in each other. We cannot, and will not, ignore the power of the woman as a world-builder when hearts and minds unite.

THIS PROJECT IS A TRIBUTE TO THE FEMALE CREATIVE FORCE—THE ONE THAT DREAMS, THE ONE THAT EXECUTES, AND THE ONE THAT DESERVES TO BE RECOGNIZED. THE WORLD IS CHANGING, AND WE ARE PART OF THAT CHANGE.
